LIMIT TO ELECTRICITY ORDERED IN VIENNA

(Correspondence Associated Press) VIENNA, Nov. 14.—The authorities are beginning to deal more severely with offenders against the lighting and food acts. For using an excess amount of electric current four prominent restaurants and one big hotel have been cut off from current altogether for a period of weeks. One big hotel has had its restaurant and dining room closed for one month because it had on hand an excessive amount of food.

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

Location of Principal Place of Business, and Location of Works, Tonopah, Nye County, Nevada.

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the 20th day of November, 1919, an assessment (No. 38) of One (1) Cent per share was levied upon the capital stock of the corporation, payable immediately in United States gold coin, to the Secretary, at the office of the Company, Room 363 Russ Building, San Francisco, California.

Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on the 22nd day of December, 1919, will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction, and unless payment is made before, will be sold on Tuesday, the 23rd day of January, 1920, to pay the delinquent assessment, together with the cost of advertising and expenses of sale.

By Order of the Board of Directors,
CHARLES D. OLNEY,
Secretary.
Office Room 363 Russ Building,
San Francisco, California.

AMUSEMENTS

"GIRLIE-GIRLIE" SHOW AT THE BUTLER TONIGHT.

"Oh, Boy!" which will be shown at the Butler tonight is said to represent the only successful attempt ever made to translate to the screen the complete story of a modern up-to-date "girlie-girlie" musical comedy hit, and it is one succession of laughter-provoking, ludicrous, farcical situations from start to finish.

One of the many enjoyable features is the appearance of a bevy of beauties recruited from the various Broadway cabarets and musical comedy shows. The aggregation of girls represents four different well known cabarets and five current Broadway musical comedy hits, including "Tumble Inn," "Good Morning Judge," and "Listen Lester," and consists of sixteen hand-picked beauties, selected with a discrimination that would do credit to Florenz Ziegfeld. The girls form a chorus that appears at various intervals throughout the picture and although bereft of their voices, they disport themselves in a lively manner and make good use of their training in the gentle art of "jazz" dancing.

The work of rehearsing the girls in the dance numbers was entrusted to Albert Morris, who spent some fifteen years as a musical-comedy stage director. So from all advance information obtainable, it looks as though the "fans" were going to be highly entertained, when the title of "Oh, Boy!" is flashed on the screen tonight.

Despatches from London say that England and France were stunned by the action of the senate in voting down the treaty. "Stung" would perhaps be a better word.

Some time ago Congressman Evans, meeting H. W. Dyer, asked him as to the needs and desires of this community, and the matter of the mail route to Millet was explained. Mr. Evans promised to do all in his power to have the route re-established, and he did not forget his promise. The result of his activity is that the postoffice department has advertised for bids for a semi-weekly mail service between the two places, the bids to be filed with the department at Washington on or before December 23.

The new town at Birch Creek, whose population will be quite large by spring, is on the route and a mail service will be very valuable. An established and regular service between here and Millet will close the gap between Austin, Manhattan and Tonopah and do away with the long trip north to Battle Mountain, west to Hazen or Reno, and thence south and east to Tonopah, Goldfield and Manhattan.—Reese River Reveille.

MAIL RESTORED ON OLD ROUTE

Some years ago, when Austin was at a very low point on the thermometer of prosperity, the mail route through Smoky Valley from Austin to Millet, serving the ranchers along the route, was abandoned. Tonopah was then in its heyday, and a route was established from that camp to Millet, leaving a gap in the service and forcing the ranchers and stock men of Monitor, Smoky and other neighboring valleys to reverse their way of doing business, break off business relations and connections in Austin which had been forming and growing for nearly forty years, and form new business connections and new friendships in the southern camp. The necessity of going to Millet for their mail, and the lack of transportation this way, caused them to do their trading elsewhere.

This was a cruel blow to Austin, and came at a time when the town could ill afford the loss of business. Local business people have made many attempts to have this abandoned route re-established, and met with failure at every attempt. Senators and congressmen have repeatedly been appealed to, have taken the matter up in a more or less perfunctory manner with the postal authorities, and been politely but gracefully turned down.

Some time ago Congressman Evans, meeting H. W. Dyer, asked him as to the needs and desires of this community, and the matter of the mail route to Millet was explained. Mr. Evans promised to do all in his power to have the route re-established, and he did not forget his promise.
